COUNTY FAIR TO BREAK RECORDS

LARGE NUMBER OF EXCELLENT EXHIBITS ALREADY ON THE GROUND FOR FOUR DAYS SHOW.

The biggest and best county fair in the history of Pontotoc county is indicated by the entries now being made for the fair that opens at the county fair grounds tomorrow. Parties with exhibits are coming in rapidly, and the fair management predicts that every stall and booth and table will be taken when the entrances close at 4 p. m. tomorrow.

A big attraction of the four days will be the exhibit of tractors. This exhibit will be on North Broadway midway between the city limits and the fair grounds in the field west of the highway. Five different companies have already arranged to show their tractors, one of the companies having six different tractors ready for the show. These will give an hour's exhibition of ploughing, etc., each day, and will doubtless draw large crowds to witness their performance.

Some of the finest livestock ever shown in the county if not in the state is already in the stalls waiting for the fair to begin. Hogs, bulls, wilch cows, and race horses are ready for the show, and other livestock and larger numbers of livestock are coming in steadily. There will be races every day for the entertainment of those who enjoy horseracing.

Among the exhibits displayed will be those of a number of schools in the county that held school fairs last week and will bring their exhibits to the county fair. Twelve schools have asked for space and will bring in creditable exhibits.

Visitors during the four days will see as fine an exhibition of livestock and agricultural specimens as can be found anywhere in the county. The display of fruit and culinary products will be worth anyone's while inspecting, while races and ball games will lend festivity to the occasion. Moreover, the merry-go-round is ready to start, while pink lemonade and fizz water is already on tap. Join the crowd at Main and Broadway tomorrow and go north. It is going to be immense.

260,000,000 Indians In Hands of Loan Sharks Are Enslaved for Life

The attention of the American who mourns because he owes a furniture bill, is in debt to the doctor, or finds himself entangled at his bank, is directed to the sorry spectacle of the Hindu. He cannot get out of debt. Exorbitant interest charges enslave 260,000,000 debt-burdened Indians, points out D. C. Vandercreek in "Driving the Loan Sharks out of India" in the August Association Men. Economic reform is the first fundamental to the moral regeneration of that country, and after that, earnings must be increased, for the laboring man's wages run from 4 to 10 cents a day.

"Heavy debts, passed on from father to son and to son's son," the article continues, "paid and repaid in exorbitant interest charges ranging from 48 to 75 per cent, with the principal yet uncanceled after years of paying, are the milestones hung from the necks of 260,000,000, which dull their spirits and make subservient their minds, while a hopeless future mocks them. Entire villages—hundreds and thousands of them—never knew the day when a single family was free of debt!"

"Of India's five depressing D's—Debt, Dirt, Disease, Drunkenness, and Demons—probably the most fatal is debt, for until it is cancelled the destructive effectiveness of the others is not likely to be lessened. While debt maintains its present prevalence, Shylock gets more than a mere pound of flesh; he commands the time, the labor, the cattle, the land—even the children—of his economic slaves."

Delay in Ratifying Peace Treaty Rests Now With Pres.

By News' Special Service

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—In a statement issued here, Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, declared that President Wilson was pounding against a stone wall in attempting to have the peace treaty ratified without reservations. Chairman Hays' statement in full, follows:

"I agree with President Wilson that the treaty will be ratified, but ratification will be accompanied by reservations absolutely safeguarding the full independence and freedom of action of this republic. That is the simple fact which the president may as well recognize first as last. At present he is only pounding against a stone wall of patriotism which has already become impregnable and is daily increasing in width, strength and height. The committee reservations constitute the irreducible minimum of the requirements of a substantial majority of senators who cannot be coerced or cajoled into violating their oaths of office to hold America first. There is no partisanship in their position. True, every republican senator without exception stands with the committee, but because he is an American—not because he is a republican. I sincerely believe that an actual majority of the democratic senators feel the same way and evidences multiply daily that when the time comes a considerable number will vote the same way."

"It is for the president to determine when the test shall be made. The treaty will be reported out this week and a vote can be had as soon as it can be reached under the rules unless it is delayed by senators acting under direction of the president himself. It is simply up to the administration to decide whether it will or will not accept at once these essential guarantees of American independence which will unquestionably be promptly accepted by the other nations. It is imperative that this matter be settled right. It ought, by all means, to be settled promptly. The full responsibility for any delay will rest upon the president and him alone."

NEW COCA COLA MIXER AT THE PALM GARDEN

The fellow who walks up to the marble slab in the Palm Garden hereafter and calls for a "shot in the wrist," a "hypodermic squirt," a "coke injection," or in any one of the other "steep hundred ways" orders a plain Coca Cola, he will get it mixed from the bottom of the glass up.

No more stirring with the elusive spoon that always takes time, much to the annoyance of the famishing "coke" fiend; no more "cookes" with clear water on top. The Palm Garden has installed a new apparatus on their fountain fixtures that is indeed something "new under the sun." A bowl containing the concoction. When the lever is pulled on the "goose-neck" the required size "dose" comes through the faucet and is thoroughly mixed with "fizz water," and it all happens with one operation, which is almost instantaneous. It's great "hickey," and next to the concoction mixer it is ingenious arrangement.

SHRINER PICNIC AT FRANCIS TODAY

The Shriners of Francis are having a great picnic today in that city. All the Masons of the county, together with their families, are invited and a large crowd is in attendance. The Francis lodge will put on the Master's degree tonight, and as that lodge has the reputation of being about the best in the county in that work, the visiting members of the fraternity will no doubt have a very enjoyable evening.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 9.—President Wilson's special train arrived at St. Paul union station at nine o'clock today. The president was officially welcomed to Minnesota by Governor J. E. Burnquist, and to the twin cities by Mayors L. C. Hodgson of St. Paul and J. N. Myers of Minneapolis. President and Mrs. Wilson received an ovation when they stepped off the platform a few minutes later.

The president's party was immediately driven to the state capitol building where President Wilson began an address to a joint session of the legislature shortly after ten o'clock this morning.

The cost of living, President Wilson told the legislature, is largely due to a world situation, growing out of the sacrifice and waste of war.

Back of that, added the president, lay the fact that the world has not yet learned what the peace status would be.

"The world is not going to settle down," said President Wilson, "until it learns what part the United States is to play in the peace."

The president congratulated the legislature on its ratification yesterday of the federal woman's suffrage amendment.

"First of all," Mr. Wilson continued, "it was the national duty to start the commerce of the world going by the establishment of peace." "Having established an economical settlement," Mr. Wilson declared, "it was imperative that there be an arrangement to insure that nobody monkey with the process set up."

Referring to the treaty provision for an international labor organization, Mr. Wilson said that there was a way to bring a definite solution to the problem. He asserted that in this solution the United States was expected by the rest of the world to set the standards and lay down the principles.

As a basis for the solution the president suggested that the interests of capital and labor must be recognized as identical, and the two ought to be sensible enough to get together. When it was realized that labor was not a commodity and genuine co-operation had been established, production would increase "by leaps and bounds," and that would be the largest factor in reducing the cost of living.

"Any man with open eyes" could see the inevitable role the United States must play in world affairs, said the president, and must realize that it was a case of either "welcoming or surrendering" to the facts.

Mr. Wilson said that he had seen conditions on the other side of the water, and knew first hand what confidence the world reposed in America. He said he had been glad that the problem was a world one and not of domestic politics, because he would be ashamed of himself if he made such a subject a partisan one. He added, however, that if he were a scheming politician and any one wanted to present him with this issue as a platform, he would be glad to accept it.

The president continued his address at 10:47 A. M.

MANAGERS APPOINTED TO SETTLE PROHIBITION DISPUTE

PERSHING DUCKS NEW YORK CROWD

STAYS IN HIS HOTEL APARTMENTS UNTIL LATE IN ORDER TO GET BREATHING SPELL.

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—General John J. Pershing escaped a resumption today of the tumultuous welcome that greeted him yesterday by remaining in his hotel apartments until time to review a small army of two thousand Boy Scouts in Central Park this afternoon.

The scouts were assigned as the general's escort in the park where fifty thousand school children were gathered to sing patriotic songs and hear him speak. Tonight at 8 o'clock General Pershing will be the guest of the Elks. He is a member of the El Paso lodge, and a large delegation of Elks from there and from many other points throughout the country, are here in his honor.

The picked regiment of six foot soldiers who aroused the admiration of the French and English people were rushed from the steamer Leviathan to Camp Merritt to prepare for their parade today.

Confederate Vets. Thank Citizens For Assistance

The old Confederate Veterans of this section will never forget the entertainment given them in this city on the occasion of their state reunion here a few days ago. They were royally entertained and they appreciate it.

At the meeting of Wm. L. Byrd Camp No. 1545, September 7th, the following resolution was passed:

"Resolved that the thanks of the camp be extended to all the citizens, male and female, and especially to the Boy Scouts, Walter Coyne, Joe Foster and O. N. Walker, secretary of the chamber of commerce, for the splendid services they rendered in making the late reunion a success."

Everybody in Poland Receives Orders to Get a Haircut and Bath

Every man, woman, and child in Poland has been ordered to have a haircut and bath, according to word received by the American Red Cross.

The Red Cross is helping the Polish government carry on a campaign against typhus. 100,000 cases having been registered. The health authorities agreed that the only way to stamp out typhus is to reclothe over 5,000,000 persons after they have had the necessary bath and haircut. The epidemic is especially prevalent in Russian Poland and Galicia.

SUPREME COUNCIL DEMANDS CHANGE IN CONSTITUTION

By News' Special Service

PARIS, Sept. 9.—The supreme council of the peace conference will today draft a note to be sent to the German government demanding the suppression of article 61 of the German constitution providing for Austrian representation in the German parliament, according to newspapers here. It is said that the supreme council considers the recent German reply to the council's note on article 61 as insufficient.

WHILE WAITING FOR CONGRESS TO ACT.

Doctors are agreed that influenza germs are scattered by coughing and sneezing, and that by covering the cough or sneeze danger of a Flu Epidemic is lessened, lives are saved and many persons are spared days of painful illness.

The New York board of health has added this to that city's sanitary code.

"In order to prevent the conveying of infective material to others, all persons shall, when coughing or sneezing, properly cover the nose and mouth with a handkerchief or other protective substance."

All persons can do this—and should. It means safety for others, including those around you, the members of your family, your children, and your friends.

Big Salvation Army Drive Is Now on; Pontotoc County Will Raise Her Full Quota

The big Salvation Army Drive, so far as Pontotoc county is concerned, is now in full swing, or will be when the county fair opens here tomorrow morning.

The drive is for the Home Service Fund of the organization, and the quota allotted to this county is three thousand dollars. That the amount will be raised without difficulty was the opinion of county chairman, Charles L. Orr, when interviewed by a news representative this morning.

The drive throughout the state is not scheduled to start until Sept. 29th, but the officials of the campaign for this county decided to start thus early in order to take advantage of the opportunities that will be offered here to raise the money during the four days of the fair.

Employ Novel Scheme.
The county officials for the drive in Pontotoc county are: Charles L. Orr, chairman; Lowrey H. Harrell, Local Manager; J. A. Smith, of the Guaranty State Bank, Treasurer; Marvin Brown, editor of the News, Publicity Manager.

A novel scheme has been adopted for the four days of the county fair in the form of a doughnut sale to be conducted from an elegantly arranged booth at the fair grounds.

The doughnut, you know, has a significance all its own to the soldier and sailor, as it took the form of the "staff of life" on the battle front during the stirring days of the war, when used to such good advantage by the Salvation Army. The boys from the front say that the doughnut was really and truly their "salvation" during those trying days.

Teams of girls, working in shifts, will sell the doughnuts at the booth at the fair grounds. The price? Anything you are of mind to pay, from one dollar each up to fifty.

It is said, too, that the girls will compete for prizes. The team making the best record of sales will be given a handsome prize, and there will be prizes for team captains and for individuals. The prizes, we understand, are going to be given by the various leading business men of the city.

Everybody Generous.
The Boy Scouts are to distribute literature and otherwise assist in the campaign. The Scouts are loyal to every patriotic cause and their services are inestimable, as was demonstrated recently on the occasion of the Confederate Reunion in this city.

President Gordon, of the East Central State Normal, has very generously agreed to excuse pupils at the normal who are on the committees and teams and who will otherwise assist in the big drive for Pontotoc county's quota.

That the returned soldiers are strong for the Salvation Army is attested by the fact that they are all rallying to the call for help on the Home Service Fund, and are doing all they can to boost the drive.

Pat Holley, a returned soldier and a brilliant young artist of the city, is doing the decorating and sign painting at the fair grounds booth free of charge. Other returned soldiers are helping in a number of ways.

Teams of Young Ladies.
The county chairman asserts that he has the flower of Pontotoc county's feminine beauty on his list of helpers. Young ladies, the fairest of the fair, will work at the booth from early morn until late at night, lending their time and talents without price in order that the county's quota to the Salvation Army may be raised by this unique method, without having to resort to personal solicitation.

Mrs. Tom Hope, a veteran here in all patriotic enterprises, will have supervision of the baking department, and all patriotic ladies who wish to contribute doughnuts should make it a point to let their intentions be made known to her at once.

Mrs. Harmon Ebey will supervise the sales teams and look after the general management of the campaign from that standpoint.

The teams will be numbered one, two and three and will work in shifts, all three working one shift per day. The teams and their numbers are as follows:

Team Number One: Dorothy Duncan, captain; Grace Shelton, Reba Shelton, Mildred Miller, Annie Carroll Simpson, Alma Mount, Lillian Hodge, Nell Hodge, Eunice Bills, Ophelia Gray, Vera McMillan.

Team Number Two: Carrie Roach, captain; Clarice Cartwright, Jervis Bills, Selma Bolen, Bill Zorn, Vallie Rosser, Kathryn Griffith, Lilla McKendree, Pearl Gay, Alaine Gordon.

Team Number Three: Ira Gregg, captain; Ruby West, Gladys Rawls, Laverne Brown, Lenore McKendree, Pearl Sims, Polly Stanfield, Lucille Griffith, Ina Gray, Ruby Gay.

Marshal Foch Is Enjoying First Holiday for Years

By the Associated Press

PARIS, Aug. 23. (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Marshal Foch is enjoying the first holiday he has had in five years. On his estate at Morlaix, near Brest, the generalissimo of the Allied armies is living the simple life, dressed in loose tweeds and wearing a cap, only retaining his leather leggings as a reminder of his uniform.

The marshal is a great lover of hunting and partridges are thick in the woods of Brittany. Bue the marshal disconsolately watches them flutter about with impunity. It will not be open season for hunting in France until September 15. It was open season for the enemy for five years and the commander in chief of the Allied armies never missed a day. Some newspapers are asking that an exception be made in favor of Foch, one of them adding naively that "as he has rendered slight service to his country, in ridding it of the Germans he might be allowed to deprive its woods of a few partridges."

When it became known that Foch was going to Morlaix, the mayor and city councillors at once made elaborate plans for the reception. They assembled at the house of the mayor and commenced marching down to the station when some one remarked that the hour at which the train was due had passed.

"It matters not," said the mayor, "that Brest train is never on time."

They arrived at the station, however, to find that the train actually had come and gone for 25 minutes. For once it had been on schedule time. General Foch was aboard and he never brooks delay. And now Minister of Railways Clavelle has lost a few votes in Morlaix for doing his duty too well.

SKY HIGH PICTURES OF ADA EXHIBITED

Several photographs of Ada taken among the clouds were exhibited at the News office this morning. They were taken by O. A. Bayless, chemist at the cement plant, who, during the visit to Ada last week by Lieutenant Yost, took a flight thru the blue empyrean and made several snap shots of Ada and surrounding country.

One of the photographs gives a distinct top-side view of Ada from Twelfth street to Eighteenth street. Many of the residences and churches in that part of the city are easily distinguishable, particularly the Arcade, the Methodist, Baptist, and Presbyterian churches, and the residence of Ed Gwin. A picture of the high school building is surprisingly familiar, considering the angle from which the picture was made. The cement plant also shows up well.

CARDINAL MERCIER ARRIVES IN NEW YORK

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Cardinal Mercier, Primate of Belgium, will reach New York today on the naval transport Northern Pacific, to thank America for the aid sent to his country during the war. The cardinal will be met down the bay by a committee headed by Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes, also a committee from Baltimore representing Cardinal Gibbons. Cardinal Mercier will make his first public address in Baltimore Tuesday, September 16th.

W. D. Kennedy is more than an under-sheriff. He is some peach raiser. He has some seedling trees that produce as beautiful colored peaches as any the fruit tree salesmen have pictured. The reason this statement is made is because the reporter was permitted to put a tooth into one.

FIRE PROTECTION IMPORTANT POINT

UNLESS WATER FACILITIES ARE REMEDIED ADA FIRE INSURANCE WILL BECOME ENORMOUS.

If there were no other reasons to be offered for a new and enlarged water system for Ada—and there are hundreds of other reasons—the fact that we are suffering from a bad rating in the matter of fire insurance is important enough to make the public sit up and take notice.

The mayor some time ago took up the matter of Ada's rating with the Oklahoma Inspection Bureau for Fire Insurance Estimates at Oklahoma City. The bureau had just previously examined the waterworks plans of the Johnson & Benham Engineering Co., as they have been drawn for this city, and in a letter to the mayor under date of August 1st, they throw quite a bit of light on the situation in Ada in-so far as concerns the question of waterworks and also insurance classification. We publish the letter herewith:

Oklahoma City, Aug. 1, 1919.
Hon. Gary Kitchens, Mayor,
Ada, Okla.

Dear Sir:
It has been our pleasure to go over the engineering report on your waterworks situation as compiled by Johnson & Benham, and have discussed the proposed improvements with Mr. Benham.

It is, of course, well known that the present situation of water supply and distribution is inadequate and contains many defects in addition to the deficient capacity. The very complete report of your engineers has ably pointed out the actual condition and we believe the recommendations are well taken and are in line with our own views.

From the standpoint of fire protection, the most important improvements are those of increasing the amount of water available, the installation of high duty fire pumps and the laying of the feeder mains.

We consider it a matter of only a short time before a new supply line will be absolutely necessary to convey water from the springs to the town and will have to consider the present 12 inch main as unreliable to a certain degree. Reservoir capacity close to the city, however, will offset the unreliability of the supply main and supply works at the springs in proportion to the amount of water in storage and we recommend that the reservoir capacity be made as large as practicable, the two million gallons not being any too large, and should be installed with the ultimate plan of increasing the storage capacity. A gravity line is the more reliable method of conveying water to the reservoir as it eliminates the pumping machinery and power lines and will, therefore, receive greater credit.

The 1500 gallon per minute fire pumps recommended, in addition to the service pumps will be needed and should be installed by all means at the pump station, to be erected at the reservoir.

The new feeder mains as proposed are a necessity and will greatly increase the amount of water and pressures available for fire purposes. At the present time portions of the residence districts are practically unprotected and pressures and flow are seriously inadequate in the mercantile district. We hope none of these items, covering installation of mains, will be cut out, for to a large extent our grading will be based on the fire flow tests as found in the various parts of the built up district.

Ada has been enjoying an underserved fire insurance grading for several years and we have been anxiously observing that conditions were rapidly growing worse. It seemed imperative that Ada be regarded and put in the proper classification, when the last bond issue was voted down last winter, but we were assured that the matter would not be dropped and that improvements would be made. We sincerely hope that this proposition will not be turned down.

Should the proposed improvements be made, together with some comparatively small improvements in the fire department, and more comprehensive fire prevention and building ordinances be passed and enforced, it is probable that conditions will warrant a 4th class grading this being a half class better than present grading and as good as any city of this state with three exceptions.

We shall watch the progress of the improvements and will re-rate as soon as conditions justify any change.

We beg to remain,
Very truly yours,
C. T. INGALL,
Manager.

"It would be impossible," contin-

I didn't have a well day in five years.
Everything I ate disagreed with me,
and I would have bad spells of inso dizzy that I was hardly able to stand on my feet. These troubles just kept getting worse all the time, and I finally got so weak and run

of my housework."

"I was a long time making up my mind to take Tanlac, but after read-

Japan Must Grow Says Writer Who Sees Trouble

By the Associated Press

TOKIO, Aug. 9.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—
The suggestion that Japan purchase the Philippine Islands from the United States and the Dutch East Indies from Holland as a means of solving the problem of Japan's ever growing population is made by a writer in the Herald of Asia, a conservative Japanese weekly journal. The writer contends Japan is bound to expand territor-ially as she is expanding in population. Pointing out that the population has more than doubled in the last fifty years, being now over 57,000,000, he estimates that at the same rate of increase the population will in another fifty years reach 114,000,000.

It is not too much to hope, he argues, that "some day justice and destiny will decide that all the islands in this side of the Pacific, north of the equator, will come under the jurisdiction of Japan." He asks the question whether America intends to keep out Japanese emigrants and still hold the Philippines permanently. If not, why should she not some day sell them to Japan? He adds: "Having closed her own doors to the Japanese, this would be a gracious act on her part and one that would be but naturally expected from a country boasting of so much philanthropy and Christian altruism."

As for the Dutch East Indies
the article contends the inhabitants are more akin to the Japanese than to Holland and that Japan could administer the islands with greater benefit on the whole to the people and to herself than could Holland which, moreover, is a small country troubled with surplus population.

It is pointed out also that the Dutch East Indies form the southern line of Japan's defenses and that more than once the dependence of these islands has made a menace to her safety.

After remarking that the Japanese do not like to settle in old climates like Hokkaido or Siberia,
the writer concludes: "Certainly it would be better to let Japan have them than to let them pass into other hands, a contingency that Japan could not contemplate. There was no surprise when America purchased the Danish West Indies.
There should be no surprise if Japan should purchase the Dutch East Indies. Were Japan once in command of the Sunda straits she could slacken her naval program and feel at ease both as to defenses and population for all time to come."

LONG CITY DRIVE PLAN FOR WILSON

COMMITTEE PLANS TO GIVE THE PEOPLE MANY CHANCES TO SEE THE PRESI-DENT.

By News' Special Service

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 8.—To give every person in the city the best chance to see President Wilson
during his visit here, September 26, is the object of the committee which is arranging the route to be followed by the presidential party
during the drive through the city for the first forty-five minutes after its arrival, according to a statement
last night by Mayor Walton.

Although the line of the drive has not been settled upon finally, it is almost certain it will be as follows:
From the Santa Fe station on Grand avenue to Hudson avenue, south to California avenue, west to Western avenue, north to Grand avenue, east to Dewey avenue, north to Main street, east to Broadway, north possibly as far as Fourteenth street, east to the fair grounds, and return to the city.

60,000 Persons Expected.

"The crowd here to see the president will be at least double the normal state fair crowd," the mayor predicted last night. "I look for 60,000 persons from out of the city, and possibly 100,000," he said.

To insure ample protection for the president, special police commissions will be given to a large number of citizens. They will wear ribbon badges and will serve in addition to the regular uniformed police and the national guardsmen called in for the occasion.

Guard Camp in City.
"I intend to ask some of the leading commercial and civic organizations of the city to furnish a large part of their membership to help with police work during the visit,"
the mayor said.

The national guard troops on duty during the visit will be drawn from all parts of the state. Adj. Gen.
Charles F. Barrett will be in personal charge, assisted by the colonels in command of the regiments. Oklahoma City soldiers will be quartered at the armory during their term of service. It is planned to pitch tents for those from outside the city. The guardsmen will arrive on Thursday, it is expected, and remain until Saturday.

Elaborate Decorations Planned.
Decorations will be the most elaborate ever seen here. It is expected by the committee in charge of that part of the arrangements. The contract for the decorating will be let today or tomorrow. Owners of stores and residences along the line of the president's drive will be urged to put up flags and bunting at their own expense to add to the gala appearance of the city.

The greeting of the school children will be one of the important features of the reception. In order that as many as possible may take part in the ceremony, it is suggested there be two stations in widely separated parts of the city where children may assemble to watch the presidential pass. The courthouse yard probably will be one of the assembly points for the children.

EXPERTS INVESTIGATE THE SOCIAL PROBLEM

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—One hundred experts, representing many branches of civic and social endeavor, for more than a week have been engaged in investigating the "social unit laboratory" in Cincinnati, Ohio, with a view to its possible extension to other cities, according to an announcement made here today by Mrs. Charles L. Tiffany, one of its founders. The project, which is one of community betterment, has been in operation in a congested section of Cincinnati for two and one-half years.

Among the sociologists and others interested in the spread of the ideas of "Americanization, public health and community organization," and who are making the investigation, are John Lovejoy Elliott, Bailey Bur-ritt, Rowland Haynes, Charles Stel-zle, Robert E. Chaddock, Ella Phillips Crandall, John P. Frey, Marcus E. Ravage, and Dr. Haven Emerson of Buffalo, N. Y.; Sherman Kingsley of Cleveland, Ohio; Frank Wing of Milwaukee, Wis.; Ira W. Jayne of Detroit, Mich.; Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale; Dr. William and Dr. Charles Mayo of Rochester, Minn.; and Dr.

William Welch of Johns Hopkins
Medical College, Baltimore, Md.

According to the statement, the investigators will evaluate the results of the work in the Cincinnati district, pass upon its reproducibility, and recommend a program for future action, based upon social and economic needs, as they understand them. Their reports will be presented at a national conference to be held in Cincinnati October 13, 14 and 15.

International Convention United Mine Workers In Session at Cleveland, O.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 8.—Hundreds of miners were here tonight and each train brought more for the international convention of the United Mine Workers of America,
which opens tomorrow. It is expected the convention will remain in session for two weeks or more. Approximately 2,000 delegates from the United States and Canada are expected.

This will be one of the most important conventions in the history of the organization, which is one of the largest trades unions in America, according to officials tonight.
One of the big questions to come up before the convention is the nation-alization of the mines?

"The coal miners of America look forward to nationalization as an ultimate solution of the coal problem," according to William Green, secretary-treasurer of the organization.
"They have gone on record in a previous convention as being generally in favor of nationalization of mines 'democratically managed,' but we have no definite plan in any way comparable to the Plumb plan for the railroads."

A policy committee of the international organization has had the question under consideration for several weeks and is expected to recommend that the government take over the mines. But as yet it is purely a question of general policy, according to Green, and is not a demand.

The only demands to be served on the coal operators are those affecting wages, hours and conditions of labor, Mr. Green declared.

It is understood that demand will include a six-hour day and a five-day week.

A joint conference between representatives of miners and operators will be held following the convention.

An effort will be made to move
the international headquarters of the Union from Indianapolis to Cleveland. William Roy, president of District No. 5, United Mine Workers of Ohio, declared.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 9.—Approximately 2,000 delegates from this country and Canada were here from the opening today of the biennial international convention of the United Mine Workers of America,
the largest of America's trade unions. The convention which is expected to remain in session for two weeks or more, will be one of the most important in the history of the organization.

The principal matters to be decided are the demands to be made on the coal operators affecting wages, hours and conditions of labor. For the past two years miners have been working under a contract made in Washington in November, 1917, which was to last until March 31, 1920, or "until the expiration of the war."

The miners will consider the war ended when the senate ratifies the peace treaty.

According to William Green, international secretary-treasurer of the organization, the wage and hour demands, although subject to change,

are substantially:

A six hour day instead of the eight-hour day; a five-day week instead of six and an increase in wages of from 25 to 40 per cent.

It is contended that the miner has to donate the time required to enter the mine (often a considerable distance) just as mule drivers in the mine have to put up their animals after a day's work, on their own time; the motorman to care for his motors, etc. "We are forced to demand shorter hours and a shorter week because of the unemployment at the mines," Mr. Green said.

Miners now are paid a certain sum for every ton of coal mined. Operators have claimed miners can make $15 a day. Union officials assert, however, the average counting time of layoff—will not run more than $6 a day. Other help are paid by the day generally, the wage running from $4.75 to $5 a day.

A joint scale conference between representatives of miners and operators of the central competitive field, including Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Western Pennsylvania, will be held immediately following the miners convention, to consider the new wage scale. Inasmuch as the district is the most important in the country, its rate usually governs the country, with modifications
due to local conditions.

Another matter of importance to be brought before the convention will be the nationalization of the mines. However, this is merely a suggestion of general policy, according to Secretary Green, and is not a demand.

William Roy, president of District
No. 5, United Mine Workers of Ohio, said an effort will be made to move
the international headquarters of the union from Indianapolis to Cleveland.

The convention was presided over by John L. Lewis of Illinois, international vice president, in the absence of President Frank Hayes, who is ill.

History of Number 40

40 years ago an old doctor was putting up a medicine for diseases of the blood, that cured the worst cases of specific blood poison, and time proved that the cures were permanent. After many years I secured the prescription (being a druggist), and took each ingredient separately and referred to my U. S. Dispensatory and other authoritative books or medicine and found the medical properties set down as follows: "Employed in diseases of the glandular system, in blood poison, scrofula, eczema, constipation, stomach and liver troubles, chronic rheumatism, catarrh, in sores, ulcers, pimples,
skin eruptions, mercurial and lead poisoning. Under its use nodes, tumors and scrofulous swellings that have withstood all other treatment disappear as if by magic." To commemorate my fortieth year as a druggist I named this medicine
"Number 40 For the Blood." J. C.

Great Circus Kitchen Biggest In The World

GLIMPSES OF CULINARY DEPARTMENT IN GREAT SUPER CIRCUS.

Supervising the culinary department of a big circus has always been a gigantic task, but when the undertaking has to do with an aggregation the size of the great new Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Shows Combined, it is said that all past performances are but child's play. Yet the feeding of the army of performers and working men who are part of this mammoth super-circus is accomplished with just as little fuss and noise as that which attended to either of the enterprises whose biggest and best features are now merged into one.

As has been the case with all departments the most efficient men and the most practical equipment of both shows have been brought together in this large portable "hotel." The feeding of the people of this great circus is an item of expense which only thousands of dollars and perfect system can accomplish. The gigantic canvas hotel occupied by the circus people includes the largest kitchen in the world. A force of 100 chefs, cooks and waiters serve thousands of meals a day. The cooking is done on a range weighing more than a half-dozen touring cars, and in cauldrons, and pots of giant proportion heated by steam. Since the majority of this season's performers come from foreign lands, interpreters are carried and the chefs see that special native dishes are prepared for their benefit.

The Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows exhibit here Wednesday, Sept. 24.

COTTON MEN ERECT A STREET TELEPHONE

The cotton men of the city have constructed a telephone box and are installing a public telephone on the electric light pole that stands directly in front of the office of the American Oil & Refining Co., on North Broadway, just south of the News office.

The principal street activity during the cotton season is near this point and the telephone is installed for the convenience of buyers and sellers. It is a novel idea and will prove a great convenience to the business men during the season, as they can stay on the street during the busy hours of the day and at the same time keep in touch with the cotton exchange, the gins and their various offices and places of business.

Fake Doctor Took Man's Money On Pretext He Had Blood Poison; He Didn't

By News' Special Service

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Sept. 7.—In a little house in the outskirts of Muskogee lives a man who is going to die before many months, but he's happier today than he has been for a long time, and he's resigned to his inevitable death.

His name is not given, because it's not necessary to the story, and well, the reason is obvious. He fell into the hands of a doctor who doesn't live in Muskogee and does not have the same idea of medical ethics that is generally entertained around here.

Through the efforts of the United Charities, this man knows today that this out of town doctor lied to him, and the mortgage on his little home place, which he had given to secure the fee he was paying for treatment of a loathsome disease he didn't have, has been returned to him marked "Paid."

His body is twisted by a disease which is incurable and certainly fatal, a hardening of the muscles, but it is not in any way disgraceful, or dangerous to his wife and children.

Some months ago he got in touch with this out of town doctor, who told him he had an ignoble blood taint, and who took a pretended blood test, which he reported to the man showed "100 per cent bad." He began treating him, and took what little money the man had, and a mortgage on the little house and two lots—all that was left from the days when his health was good. When the money was all gone, and he grew no better, and no money was available to live on, the man appealed to the charities.

A regular physician was called in—one of the numerous reputable men here who always answer the call of charity, and expect and get nothing for their services, but the consciousness of doing good. He spotted the real trouble in a minute, and made a Wasserman test that established beyond doubt that the man had no trace of blood disease.

When the test was completed and the official report was shown the sufferer, his eyes brightened, his spirits lifted and he declared he could die happy, knowing that his children had no taint of the dreaded blood malady to spoil their lives and pass on down to their children.

Incidentally, the charities superintendent, Mrs. Winnifred Brown, met the out-of-town doctor here one day recently, and when she had finished with him, she took the mortgage to the man with the twisted limbs and another care was lifted.

Now the Elks have donated an invalid's chair for him, his wife and his children are cared for, and he is just as happy as a man can be who knows life won't be with him much longer.

That's just one case of the many handled by the charities every month, and it shows upon the report merely as "case handled, 1."

William Russell Favors Boxing In Public Schools

"There is no better sport than boxing as a health-builder," says William Russell, moving picture star, who has recently signed a contract with William Fox.

"Boxing teaches a man to be quick and alert, and gives self-confidence and poise. It increases the wind and it develops all the muscles of the body.

"I cannot recommend it too strongly for the young men of today. It worked wonders in my own case, and what it did for me it will do for others.

"Boxing should be taught in all the public schools and it should be on the list of sports in every athletic club or gymnasium. Put on the gloves for a few minutes every day and note the improvement in your health and general physical condition."

Important Events in the Life of General Pershing

Born in Linn county, Missouri, September 30, 1860.

Graduated when twenty years of age from Kirksville Normal school with degree of B. A.

Entered West Point Military Academy in 1882, and, after graduation in 1886, was assigned to duty with the Sixth Cavalry in the Apache Indian country.

Was in command of the Sioux scouts under General Miles in the Dakotas in 1888.

Instructor of military science at University of Nebraska in 1889, and afterwards occupied the same position at West Point, from which place he was transferred to General Shafter's command in Cuba in 1898.

Assigned to duty with General Bates in the Philippines in 1899 as an adjutant general and organized and conducted the first American expedition in the Sulu archipelago.

When the general staff was first organized at Washington in 1903, Pershing was recalled by President Roosevelt and made a member of the organization.

In 1905 he married Miss Frances Warren, daughter of Senator Warren, of Wyoming.

Was American attaché in Japan and with Kuroki's army in Manchuria during the Russian-Japanese war.

In 1906 President Roosevelt promoted him to be a brigadier-general al over the heads of 862 officers who were his seniors in rank.

The same year he was returned to the Philippines as Governor of the Sulu Islands, and commanding General, Department of Mindanao and Jolo.

In 1907 Sultan of Mindanao made him a datto with power of life and death over his subjects.

Placed in command in 1916 of the expedition against the bandit Villa in Mexico, and while on this work his wife and three children were burned to death in a fire at the Presidio. One child, Warren, who is now with the General, was saved.

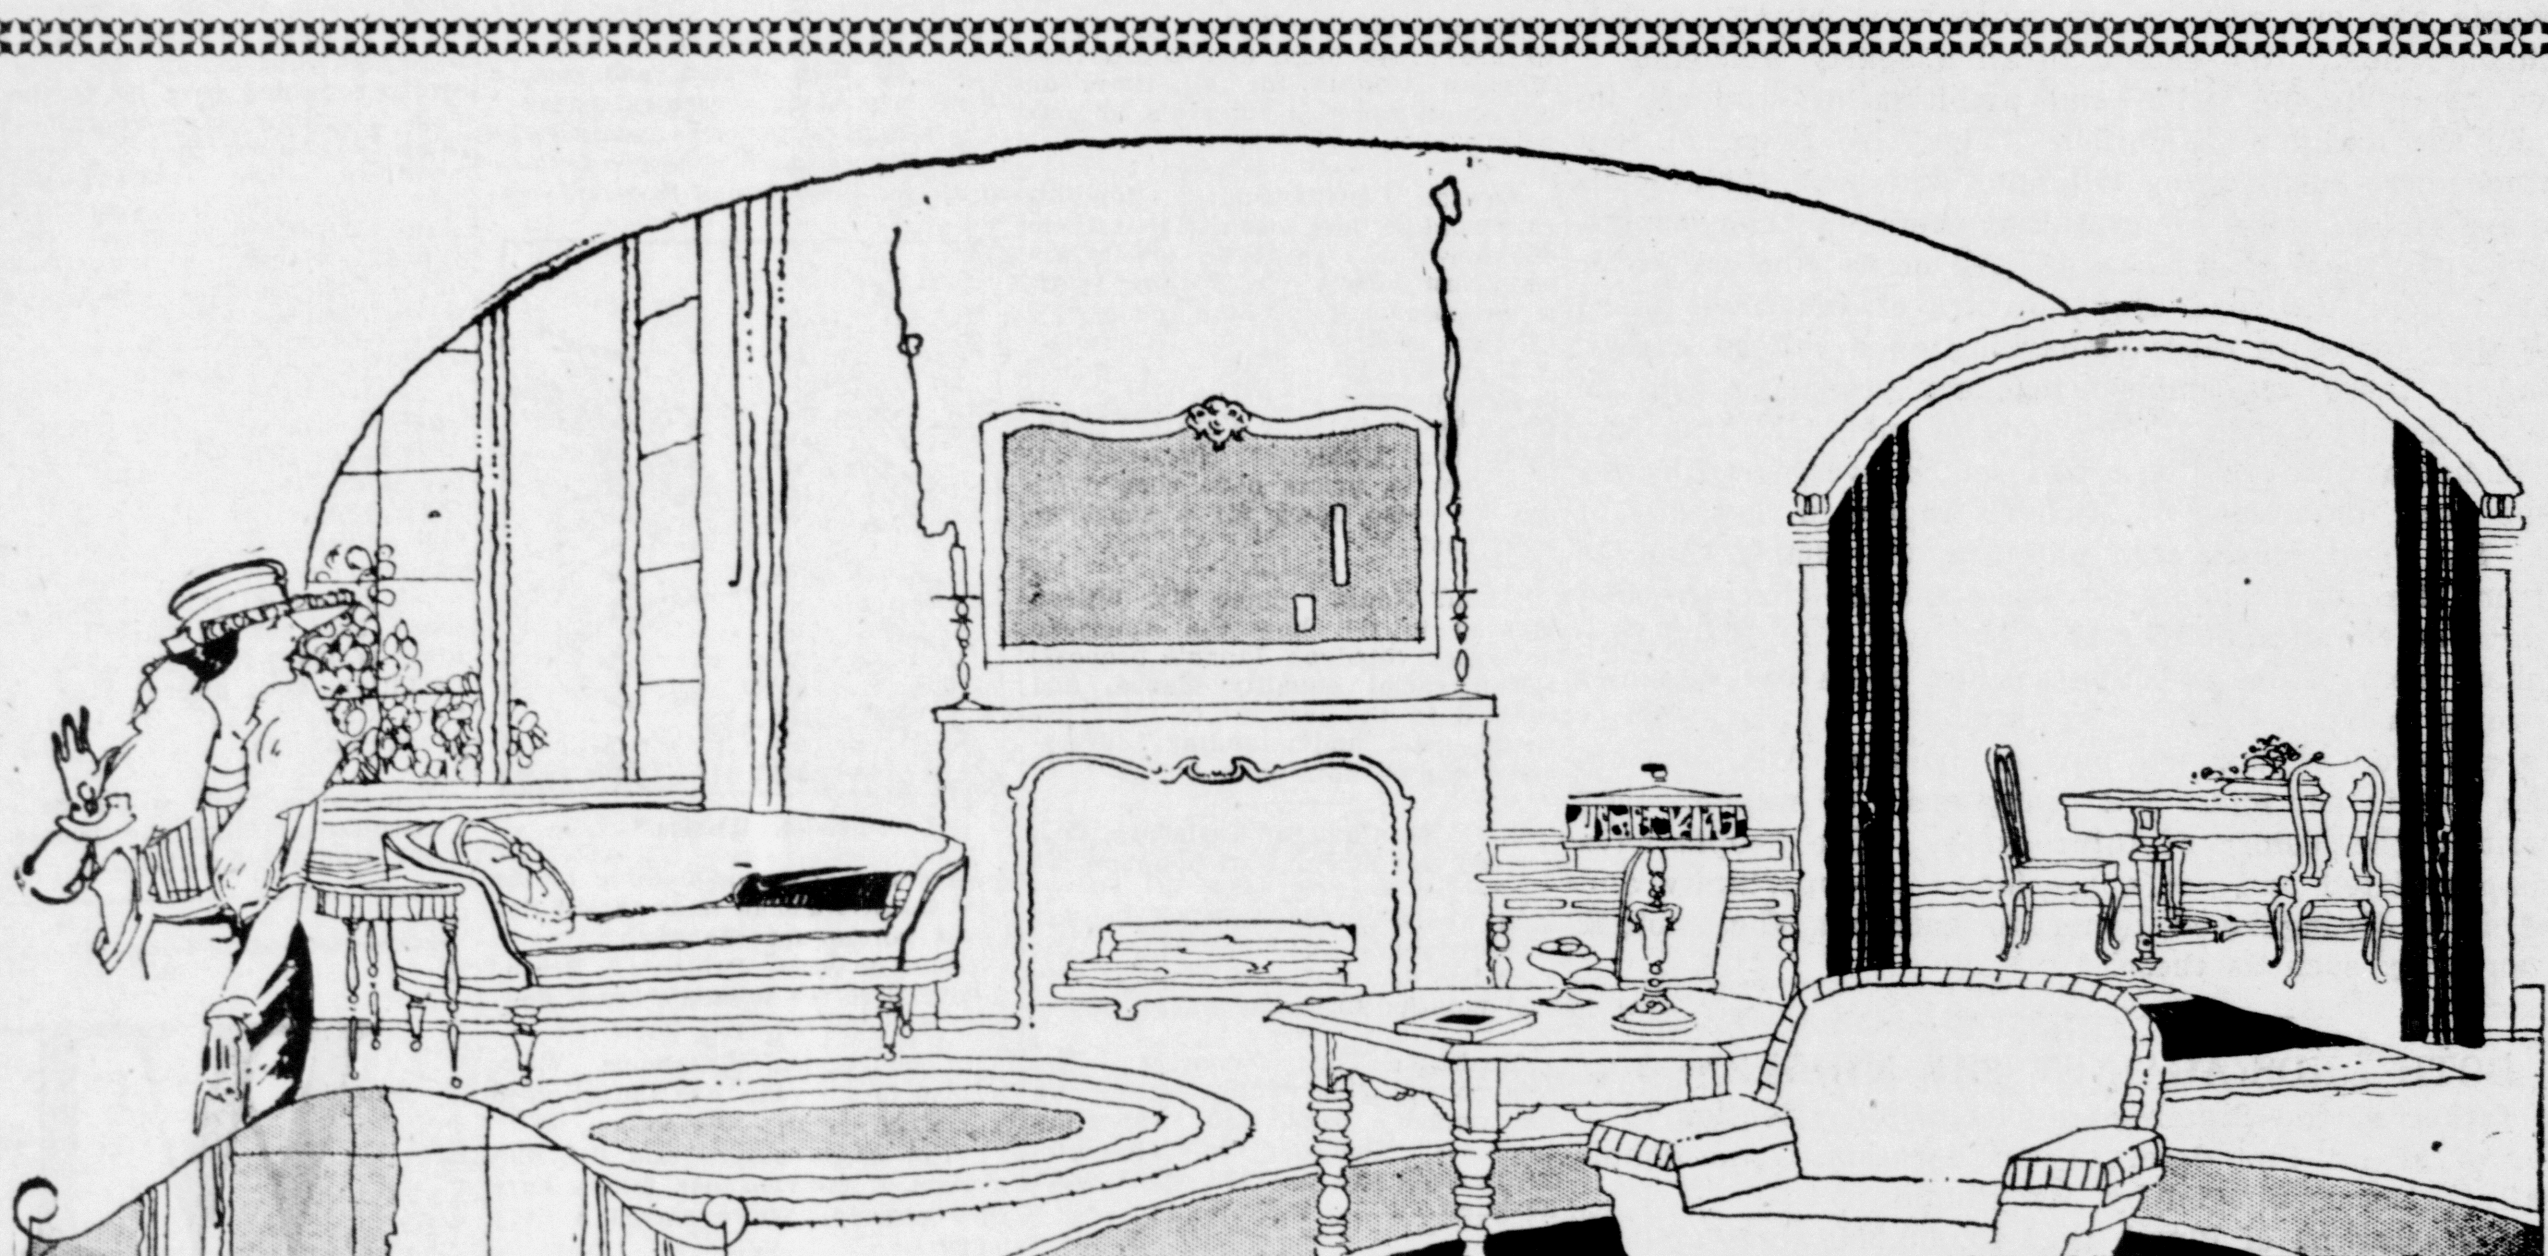

Was named to succeed General Funston upon the latter's death in 1916 as Commander of the Southern Army.

Given command of the American Expeditionary Force and went over with the first American troops who sailed for Europe.

No election's called, but maybe the president expects a rising vote on the League of Nations.

About all the average man knows of Shantung is that nice $7.50 and $10 shirts come from there.

In this League of Nations debate the people may do all the listening and none of the voting.

WELCOME TO OUR CITY

The people of Ada extend their hearty welcome to the hundreds of ambitious students now assembling at East Central State Normal. These students are among the world's best people and our citizens are more than happy to have them in our midst. We extend to all a hearty welcome.

They come in the pride and ambition of students inspired by the dream of ambition. They are living in that high atmosphere surrounding Olympus and have their heads among the clouds. We congratulate them on their aspirations and envy them their dreams. All of us who are older have been along the road they now travel and have heard the call that comes to those embarking on a college career.

Many of these are embryo teachers preparing for the noblest work that comes to the sons of men. In the days of the immediate future these will see in every prospective pupil the same angel seen of Michael Angelo in the mass of marble. Skill and consecrated patience will enable them to bring from the pupil's mind the same success that crowned the efforts of the Italian master. The world of the future rises today from chaos and the teacher holds the destinies of the world in hand.

It is a sacred opportunity now enjoyed by Ada, this entertaining within her midst this young army of students thus early writing the history of future years. The people have always appreciated and yet appreciate this opportunity and consider it a distinguished honor to entertain for another season an army such as these.

BOTH ENDS AGAINST THE MIDDLE

The father of the Plumb plan has called attention to a condition of affairs that deserves consideration, if the condition really exists as alleged by Mr. Plumb.

It is the assertion of Plumb that 40,000,000 acres of land donated by the government to the railroads immediately after the civil war is still held by the railroads. This land, consisting of some of the finest agricultural and mineral lands in the entire country, has become very valuable. This large holding is counted by the roads as a part of their assets. Its value is counted as a part of the total valuation of the American railways and is included in the aggregate upon which the people are paying the railways a guaranteed income while the nation has control of the roads.

Originally this land never cost the roads a penny. It was given by the people to the railroads in the early days and now the people are taxed to pay an income on their own donation. Not only is a tax being wrung from the public to insure a profit to the roads but freight rates and passenger rates are based on the valuations of the roads and this gift of the people is included in that valuation.

First and last the government gave to the American railways 153,000,000 acres of land. The government had more land than it needed and subsidized the railroads with the public domain at a time the land had little value. Now a great part of it has acquired a tremendous value and the railroads are using that enhanced value as a jimmy to break into the United States treasury.

There is no finer water in Oklahoma than that which bubbles up from the gravel bed at Byrd's Mill. The supply is sufficient to supply a city of 50,000 population. But the system bringing water over the hills to Ada was installed when this was a village. The system has been outgrown and must be enlarged if Ada is to continue to grow. We have the people here to use the water. The water is at the springs to be used. Getting the water here in larger quantities is the question now before the people.

Now it is suggested that the legislature meet in special session and that the legislators donate their mileage and attendance free gratis for nothing. We accept the suggestion. Now if the railroads will only furnish free fare, the hotels free rooms, the cafes free hash, the barbers free shaves, the boot-blacks free shines, and all the state officials free service, we shall meet once more on the fourth floor of the domeless capitol and have one more grand, free, hilarious time. Can you beat it?

If the local ice company is selling its product to Ada consumer for more than twice the price it gets for its surplus in Boswell and Healdton, we respectfully move that the company send its product abroad and give us homefolks its surplus.

Miami News: Since Mr. Wilson refused to tell how the American delegates voted on Japan's proposal for a racial equality clause, and refused in the interest of "international good understanding," everybody knows how they voted.

J. C. Bourland of Earlsboro, Ok., arrived this morning to complete his course at East Central. Mr. Bourland was a student at East Central several years ago, but since that time has served Uncle Sam for several months abroad.

Muskogee Times-Democrat: The compositor who, while setting up the woman's page, had "appealing costumes" displayed as "appalling costumes," was perhaps wiser than he knew.

Durant Democrat: They are exhibiting a whale 45 feet long and weighing 1,200 pounds down in Florida and a lot of men who have looked at it say it beats anything that they have seen since it went dry.

Shawnee News: The fellow who said that soldiers would never return to the land is on a par with the fellow who said prices would drop as soon as the war was over. The fact of the matter is that there is an ever increasing demand for land on the part of the returned soldiers. The day of the able bodied man with soft hands is fast coming to an end.

Ardmore Statesman: The Oklahoma suggests that the live stock pavilion at the state fair be utilized for the president's address when he visits Oklahoma City on September 26th, and the managers of the fair have consented to the arrangement. Taking into consideration the manner in which Mr. Wilson "hogged the whole show" at the peace conference, the suggestion appears to us as aptly appropriate.

Muskogee Times-Democrat: About three years ago the Times-Democrat received a letter from an eastern postmaster asking us for heaven's sake to locate for him, if we could, a postoffice "somewhere in Oklahoma by the name of Broken Bow." We wrote him at that time that Broken Bow was the jumping off place of a logging road in McCurtain county. Yesterday a special dispatch announced that work had started on a $12,000 garage at Broken Bow, which illustrates how things grow in Oklahoma.

Ardmoreite: A tip to the wise: Whenever you read anything said by Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, weigh it carefully; weigh it just as you used to weigh the linguistic fulminations of pro-Huns when we were fighting Germany. Senator Frelinghuysen, you may take it from us direct, is perhaps the liveliest and stingiest little old Hun-lover now sitting in the United States senate. We (the writer) used to live in New Jersey, and we know the politicians and the politicians and the poltroons and the pollywogs of that state from Hoboken to Cape May.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

by MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE ELVES' RIDE

"Fly-High, the bird of the Elves," said Daddy, "wanted to take the Elves for a ride.

"I haven't taken you in ever and ever so long," said Fly-High. "My back fairly aches to take you riding. My broad wings long for some little Elves to sit upon them."

"We'd love to go," said the Elves, "and where will you take us, Fly-High?"

"I thought it might be nice," said Fly-High, "to have a complete change. 'Where will we go?' asked the Elves again.

"We'll ride along a country road, early, early in the morning before the people come out to ride and walk."

"That sounds nice," said the Elves. "And we will talk to the Lowers by the roadsides," said Fly-High.

"We will see what the children see when they go walking and riding through the country. We will enjoy what they enjoy and then we will feel as though we were better friends than ever with the children.

"Don't you think that will make a nice change?" asked Fly-High.

"We do, we do, indeed," said the Elves.

"So they all jumped upon the great broad wings of Fly-High, for it was then early, early in the morning.

"And we shouldn't delay a moment," Fly-High had said. "So off they started, and took a lovely trip, along a country road.

"Fly-High kept very close to the road. He was hardly up any distance at all for they wanted to talk to the flowers and say good-morning to the Dew Fairies, and to smile to Mr. Sun as he got up for the day.

"How do you, Painter's Brush," they said to the Painter's brush flowers. "They're red, you know."

"Good-morning, Buttercups. We're so glad to see you. Are you going to stay much longer? We do hope so."

"Not much longer," said the Buttercups. "Most of our family have gone already. We've stayed a little longer."

"Oh, we're sorry you're going, Buttercups," the Elves said.

"We'll be back next year, the same as usual," said the Buttercups.

"That makes us happy," said the Elves. "We'd be quite heart-broken, if our friends, the different flowers, didn't come to visit the earth each year."

"We'll come, Elves, never fear," said the Buttercups, as they smiled so brightly.

"Hello, Daisies," said the Elves. "You're good friends, good friends."

"The daisies smiled and bowed. 'So glad you think so, Elves, and the children like us, too!'

"Of course they do," said the Elves. "Children are sensible!"

"The daisies smiled at the nice compliment."

"Hello, Milk-Weeds," said the Elves. "Hello, hello."

"Then as they went along they came to a tiny babbling brook. There were growing by the banks of the brook little blue forget-me-nots.

"Ah, our dear, dear friends, the forget-me-nots," said the Elves.

"Our dear friends, the Elves," said the forget-me-nots, their little blue faces smiling such adorable little smiles.

"And there are our good friends the black-eyed Susans, or would you rather be called Ox-Eyed Daisies?"

"We don't mind at all," they said. "We like both names."

"Yes," said Fly-High. "It's fine to have two names, fine!"

"Good-morning, pretty green ferns," they said, as they passed some woods. "How sweet they always are," added Fly-High.

"Good, good-morning, fields of grain," they said.

"And so they went on, saying a good-morning to all the flowers they passed, and they told little stories to each other when they had time. The flowers told the Elves how the children had enjoyed them, and how they would be picked to decorate houses and the Elves told the flowers some lovely fairy stories."

Wanted to See to Sleep.

Little Marian had been taken up stairs to bed. Her prayers had been said, but the child seemed restless and clung to her mother as long as possible. Finally she was tucked in cozily and her mother was about to turn out the light when a little voice pleaded:

"Mother, please let the light burn so I can see to sleep!"

What Editors Think of Ferris

The Lawton Constitution, Comanche County, August 10, 1919, Fred B. Shepler, Editor.

That Scott Ferris is to be a candidate for the United States senate in 1920 is gratifying news to the people of the Sixth congressional district, especially to a great majority of the people of his home city and county. Evidence of this is shown in the hundreds of letters and telegrams from admiring friends in all parts of the state that have besieged him for several months, urging him to run for the senate.

With a spotless record of thirteen years' service in the lower house of congress, during which time he has proved himself a staunch supporter of the people, the president and government, he comes before the people of the state as a true blue, loyal American.

The Shattuck Monitor, Ellis County, August 14, 1919, "Cap" Mitchell, Editor.

The formal announcement of Hon. Scott Ferris, congressman from the Sixth district, the past week that he would be a candidate for the United States senate to succeed Senator Gore, does not come as a surprise to friends of the state's most popular congressman, for they have been grooming him for this race for some time and would have been sorely disappointed had he not given them this assurance. Thus far the announcement of Mr. Ferris eclipses that of all other announcements, for it is generally conceded that he is the one man who can wrest from the blind man the laurels in the senatorial handicap. The announcement of Mr. Ferris in this part of the state is warmly received. He is a young Lochinvar, who has come up out of the mighty west in whom we can repose confidence.

Afternoon Frock, New and Piquant

Among the experimental styles which have blossomed out for late summer wear and that hope to survive in fashions for winter, there are afternoon and evening frocks that show much draping of material about the figure. And so long as gowns or suits convey to us that they clothe a supple, youthful and corsetless figure, they are sure of attention. Not that figures are in reality corsetless, or always youthful. But these are the things that must be suggested if the garment is to prove a success. The task of conveying the fashionable outlines lies with the corset maker and the dressmaker, who are very much added by the softness and limpsiness of the fabrics used.

One of the new draped frocks for late summer is shown in the picture above, made of silk with a satin stripe. Whether or not it is an import, it has a French flavor, with its rather short, split underskirt and bouffant overdress. In the underskirt and overdress the satin stripe in the fabric runs horizontally, but in the bodice and sleeves the stripes are vertical. All the interest in this frock centers in the management of the fabric, for nothing else is used. The long overdress is caught up in two very deep plaits to form the suggestion of panniers at the sides and a short tunic at the back, and it is considerably lengthened at the left side, where it ends over the split in the underskirt. The quaint bodice is extended into a basque and joined to the skirt. A square neck and elbow sleeves are finished with full, soft puffs of the silk. A lace chemise with a falling frill of lace across the front closes the story of this piquant frock which is so unlike its contemporaries. It has a quaint and sprightly style and many of the fibre-silk materials are especially well suited to it.

Rippling Rhymes

BY WALT MASON

THE BOARDERS.

"What ho," exclaim the boarders, "bring forth the measly lot of profiteers and hoarders, and let them all be shot." The boarders' grub is scanty, it's slim and punk indeed, in hostelry or shanty, wherever they may feed. Their eyes become a river when they look round and see a sickly slice of liver, a string bean and a pea. The boarders' cheeks are sallow, their eyes are full of woe, their waistlines show no tallow, they totter as they go. Their lean ribs clank together and ever, as they reel, they wonder, wonder, whether they'll ever have a meal. "Bring forth," exclaim the boarders, bent up with stomach ache, "the profiteers and hoarders, and burn them at the stake." The landlord says he's giving the utmost for the cash; and boarders still are living on air and onion hash. In vain the boarders forage for fodder they can eat; and there are tons in storage of eggs and pies and meat. The nation's bins are bursting with everything we need; and it is most disgusting that men for grub must plead, and pay unholy prices for everything they get; oh, let us in three trices, make some blamed lummi sweat. "Produce," exclaim the boarders, bowed down by pain and toil, "the profiteers and hoarders, and let them boil in oil."

No Happiness Without a Good Saddle Says Mix

(By Tom Mix)

Swing into your saddle and forget your troubles. That is what I should like to say to every man I meet on the city streets; and then I remember that he hasn't a saddle to his name. He may have a million dollars, and he may be president of the Non-Meltable Ice Cream corporation—but a real honest-to-goodness saddle to bounce him out of his worries is missing among his treasures.

City men look so worried and preoccupied. The best of them seem to have forgotten that they have muscles which resent being treated as ornaments and grave for exercise. They sit at a desk from morning until night and are in constant danger of becoming sissified. Half of them would not be able to tell which is the front and which is the back of the saddle.

The city man is apt to stunt the fine physique nature gave him and so lose half the fun in life. He worries and frets and fusses over dollars and cents, instead of breathing deeply and thanking his stars that he is a man.

He thinks that a little sport on a Sunday is enough to restore him to the good graces of Mother Nature. But it isn't by a long shot. Mother Nature has no use for a man who feels he is doing his duty to her when he drives a golf ball around the green. She cannot help smiling because she knows that half the time he is wondering whether his knickers and woolen stockings are not very becoming, and the rest of the time he is thinking of tomorrow down at the office.

If a man wants to be a real man he must not go at his exercise in a halfhearted way. He must indulge in it, body and soul, like the cowboy on the western ranch. I am sure no man who owns a city skyscraper can feel half as satisfied as the cowboy who has thrown a steer. And I would advise any city man who feels a twinge of general discontent to get rid of his automobiles hop on a horse and take a swift trot to a western ranch.

COTTON GROWERS PLAN TO BECOME BUYERS

DEPARTMENTAL RULE COSTLY TO INDIAN

Just how valuable (?) the supervision of Indian estates by the Indian office at Muskogee is and how beneficent (?) the overlordship of Cato Sells is was strikingly shown last Thursday when some oil and gas leases were offered for sale in Judge Busby's court.

The land in question was the homestead and surplus allotment of Fannie Harjo and is located in McClain county. The homestead tract consists of 120 acres. The surplus allotment is 30.28 acres. The two tracts are in Section 30, Tp. 5 N. R. 2. E. The two tracts adjoin. Gale Statler of Ada is the guardian of Fannie Harjo and advertised and sold both tracts for oil and gas purposes. T. C. Barrowman of Purcell purchased both leases. As the highest bidder he got leases on both tracts.

The surplus tract is unrestricted and is therefore what is known as a commercial lease. The homestead is restricted and is therefore not a commercial lease. Mr. Barrowman paid for the first least $14.53 an acre, or $440.57 for the entire tract. He paid for the second tract $2.00 an acre, or $240.00 for the entire tract. In short he paid more than seven times as much for land that the Indian office has no supervision of.

In discussing his reason for paying less for the restricted part of the land Mr. Barrowman said: "Red tape makes restricted leases very undesirable for oil and gas development. A well is going down somewhere near these two tracts. It will take from 60 to 90 days to get the approval of the Indian office for the restricted lease. It will take another 60 or 90 days to get the consent of the Indian office for us to transfer the lease. In the meantime the well will be completed. If it is a dry hole, we lose our money. If it is a good well, the office will raise the price of the lease. In either event we lose. If we could get immediate approval of the lease and the immediate right to sell it, we would gladly pay as much for a departmental lease as for a commercial lease."

In theory the Indian office and the Honorable Cato Sells protect the rights of the Indian. In actual practice their protection is fitly shown in this case of Fannie Harjo.

AGRICULTURE IN THE HIGH SCHOOL

THE WAY THE STATE PLAN FOR VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURAL INSTRUCTION WORKS IN SCHOOL.

The great need for agricultural production and agricultural instruction led to the passing of the Smith-Hughes law by the federal government by which it gives aid to the states for vocational education.

Since the state plan for vocational agricultural instruction, approved by the federal board for vocational education, calls for 50 per cent of the whole school time allotment to be devoted to vocational instruction and 50 per cent given to regular school subjects, a program of half-day agricultural work has been arranged. Since high school work is measured in credits, four of which are full work, the student of agriculture must carry two subjects which may be classed as agricultural. The usual program for the half day in agriculture will be something like this: There will be two divisions each which will have forty-five minutes for agricultural survey, which exercise may be omitted whenever the entire half day should be devoted to productive work, or to library, laboratory or other instruction bearing directly upon that work. Ninety minutes for execution of home or school productive projects undertaken by the individual students, coupled with laboratory, library and other study bearing upon these projects.

The entire class will have plant projects this next year. Each student will consult reference books and bulletins, keep a note book, and the teacher give individual guidance. Then forty-five minutes for class discussion of individual projects and a round-up of opinion, but when the whole half day is taken for one subject then compensation in apportionment of time must be made to the other. Some subjects such as Farm Shop will be almost entirely laboratory work. In the first year in the Ada High school the agricultural course will be Algebra, Grammar and Composition, Crops and Soils, and Farm Shop Work; the second year, Geometry, Composition and Rhetoric, Animal Husbandry, and Farm Shop Work; the third year, English Literature, Chemistry, Typewriting, Military Training or Physical Culture, Soils and Soil Fertility, and Dairying; the fourth year, American Literature, American History, Parasites and Diseases, and Farm Management and Farm Engineering.

In addition to the regular work the student in vocational agriculture is required to do practical work for a period of at least six months. This practical work will be some definite project agreed upon by the teacher, student and parent and it will be done under the supervision of the teacher. The projects are not to be experimental in any sense.

The investigation of agricultural questions or the demonstration of best methods is not the primary object in this work. The aim is to teach the boy how to farm best by using results of experiments and all other useful information. A secondary aim is to help the boy make money—to be a business man. Supervised practical work may be secured in either of two ways: (1) By working on the school farm under the immediate supervision of the teacher; or (2) by work on the home farm under the supervision of the teacher who will secure cooperation of the parent to make the supervision effective during the absence of the teacher. The former method is primarily for boys who have had no opportunity to learn the manipulative process of farming, and who are to be taught how to harness a horse, how to cultivate corn, how to milk cows, and to do the other things which the farmer boy has learned long before he attends a school of agriculture.

This latter is for the farmer boy who already knows the manipulative process, but who needs experience in the application of the scientific principles which he will learn in school. He also needs to practice at home the things which he sees demonstrated at school or on near by farms under the direction and supervision of the teacher, in connection with laboratory and field work.

The supervised practical work for the boy who lives on a farm may consist of two parts: the home project is an enterprise undertaken by the boy with full responsibility on his part for both the financing of the project and the doing of the work although he may not necessarily do all the work himself. This would be a business enterprise involving the keeping of books, the taking of inventories, the making of final statements. In addition to the project, certain home laboratories may be carried on, like testing of milk from a certain number of cows, or the treatment of seed potatoes for scab, or the testing of the germinating powers of seed corn, or the grafting of fruit trees.

Several weeks before the time when the practical work is to be started the teacher will present to the students a list of projects related to the work of the class room and from this list the student will select the one best suited to his conditions. He will then proceed to plan and outline the work necessary to complete the project. Such projects as the following seem to be suited to Oklahoma students: Raising a crop of from two to ten acres of corn, cotton, sorghum, potatoes, or any similar crop. Entire charge of the home vegetable garden of at least one-half acre. Entire charge of an orchard of at least fifty bearing trees. Raise a calf and fatten for baby beef, raise a litter of pigs and fatten, raise a flock of chickens or turkeys. Construct a poultry house or other farm building.

These or any typical projects and others can be developed by the teacher. Each project must be conducted on a commercial basis. Records of expenditures of cash, labor of horse and man, and receipts, must be kept and a full report made to the teacher and superintendent. A written agreement between the teacher representing the school as one party and the boy and his father as the party of the second part, describing the project work to be done, records to be kept with statements as to where the boy is to secure tools, animals, or other necessities, is a very desirable method of securing the boy's promise and the parents' co-operation to complete the project.

The following are some phases of the agricultural teachers' activities: Supervision of school and home project work carried on by boys who are enrolled in the school. Supervision of projects undertaken by boys or young men not in school but who may be interested; some of these boys may decide to enter school later. Collecting material for class room and laboratory use the following year. Looking up different points and making arrangements for field trips to be taken the following year. Assisting local farmers to solve some of their troublesome problems when these farmers request such aid. And co-operate with the near-by rural schools in teaching agriculture.

ANENT KATY CROSSING AT ADA BRICK PLANT

Editor Evening News: I read with interest your recent suggestion that an underground crossing be constructed at the Katy tracks at the brick plant, two miles south of Ada. Until I moved out here to "Hoot Owl Ranch," I had no conception of the volume of traffic that passes over this road. The number of vehicles passing over this dangerous crossing in a day will run up into the hundreds and the wonder is that accidents are not more numerous than they have been. As stated in your article, the sharp curve as the railroad track emerges from the deep cut and the shutting off of the view by the brick plant and box cars make this place very dangerous and with all the precautions that can be taken this crossing will sooner or later be the scene of some costly accident.

Another thing that commends the suggestion of an underground crossing is that the track here runs on the crest of a ridge. The cut would reduce the grade of the public road to a minimum and make traffic much easier. This fact will also make the work much easier and less costly. If there is any way of putting this plan through, by all means let us have it.

What D'ye Think?
Cannibals at One
Time Lived Here

By the Associated Press

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 8.—That the builders of the famous Indian earthworks on the Crawfish River near Lake Mills were cannibalistic is the statement of Dr. S. A. Barrett, president of the Wisconsin Archaeological Society. During the past two months the Aztalan earthworks enclosure has been subjected to investigations and excavations by the Milwaukee museum of which Dr. Barrett is the head. Although the grounds have been plowed upwards of seventy years the outline of the earthworks are still distinct.

The fabled city of Aztalan was first discovered in 1836 and surveyed in 1837 by N. E. Hyer. The city was named Aztalan by Mr. Hyer, because, according to Humboldt, the Aztecs had a tradition that their ancestors came from the north, and the possibility that the newly discovered remains might have been built by them, suggested the name.

When the first survey was made the enclosure covered about eighteen acres. The remains of the city were enclosed in a wall of earth and adobe bricks which was 631 feet long on the north, 1,419 feet on the west and 705 feet on the south side, making the total length of the wall, 2,750 feet. It was from one to five feet high.

"That many of these mounds were constructed for ceremonial purposes was evident from excavations we have made," declared Dr. Barrett in a recent address at a meeting of the Wisconsin Historical Society and Wisconsin Archaeological Society held in Aztalan. "In the center of some of the higher mounds within and outside of the enclosure were found ceremonial pole walls imbedded in stone and cement made of gravel and clay. In a few of these mounds we have found stone hatchets, arrow heads and cellos and in one of them we found an ear ornament that was famous among the Eskimos. From the pottery found in these mounds it is evident that the tribe which built the famous enclosure at Aztalan was familiar with the Iroquois Indians in the east, the Algonquins and lower tribes of the Mississippi Valley.

"This earth enclosure was a ceremonial establishment. It was not a stockade; it was not a fortification. There are indications that the people who built and inhabited this place practiced cannibalism. Among the bones of fish were found dismembered bones of human beings and these bones had been cracked for their marrow."

The complete excavations at Aztalan, an almost forgotten village 27 miles east of Madison which in territorial days rivalled Madison for the state capital, is an almost forgotten village.

RED CROSS' QUICK AID TO RETURNED SOLDIER

When Charlie Barnard of this county, left the service in France he checked his trunk and let it go at that, thinking that it would follow him to Ada. Instead of that it was unloaded at Hoboken, N. J., and turned over to the lost baggage branch of the war department at that place.

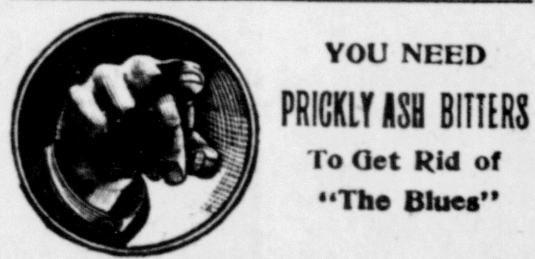

Mr. Barnard took the matter up with the local chapter of the Red Cross in this city, and Mrs. Orville Sneed wrote the department about the trunk. Her letter was dated the 26th of August, and she is in receipt of a letter under date of Sept. 2 from the lost baggage branch of war department at Hoboken stating that they had found the trunk locker check and the trunk, and that upon receipt of the proper credentials from Mr. Barnard the trunk will be forwarded to him at Ada.

This is a sample of the many little things the Red Cross chapters are asked to do, and is a sample of the service they render the soldier boys and others without fee or reward.

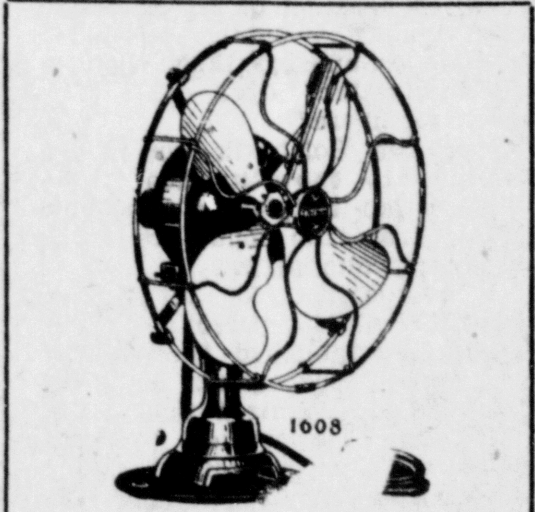

If you feel bad; if you are "blue," tired and discouraged, without apparent reason, you need Prickly Ash Bitters, the system purifier. It restores action in the torpid liver, cleanses the stomach, helps digestion, drives out gas and fermented matter in the bowels and brings back that fine feeling of strength, vim and cheerfulness which belongs only to perfect health. Election Proclamation.

Under and by virtue of Section 27, Article 10, of the Constitution of the State of Oklahoma, and Ordinance No. 425 of the City of Ada, said State, authorizing the calling of an election for the purpose hereinafter set forth, approved the 19th day of August, 1919, I the undersigned, Mayor of said city, hereby call an election to be held in said city on the 18th day of September, 1919, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified property tax-paying electors of said city the following propositions:

PROPOSITION No. 1. Shall the City of Ada, State of Oklahoma, incur an indebtedness by issuing its negotiable coupon bonds in the aggregate principal amount of $250,000.00 Dollars for the purpose of providing funds with which to enlarge and improve the present Water Works System, owned by said city, by acquiring the necessary material and doing the necessary work for installing additional water mains and water works facilities, to be used as a public utility and to be owned exclusively by said city, and levy and collect an annual tax, in addition to all other taxes, upon all the taxable property in said city, sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds as it falls due, and also to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof when due, said bonds to bear interest not to exceed the rate of five and one-half per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, and to become due within twenty five years from their date.

PROPOSITION No. 2. Shall the City of Ada, State of Oklahoma, incur an indebtedness by issuing its negotiable coupon bonds in the aggregate principal amount of $75,000.00 Dollars for the purpose of providing funds for the construction of Sanitary Sewer Mains and Sub-Mains and Storm Sewers, and Sewage Disposal Plant for the use of said city as public utilities, to be owned exclusively by said city, and levy and collect an annual tax in addition to all other taxes upon all the taxable property in said city, sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds as it falls due, and also to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof when due, said bonds to bear interest not to exceed the rate of five and one-half per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, and to become due within twenty five years from their date.

PROPOSITION No. 3. Shall the City of Ada, State of Oklahoma, incur an indebtedness by issuing its negotiable coupon bonds in the aggregate principal amount of $10,000.00 Dollars for the purpose of providing funds with which to improve a Park Site to be used as a public utility and owned exclusively by said city, and levy and collect an annual tax, in addition to all other taxes, upon all the taxable property in said city, sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds as it falls due, and also to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof when due, said bonds to bear interest not to exceed the rate of five and one-half per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, and to become due within twenty-five years from their date.

The ballots used at said election shall set out the proposition as above set forth, and shall also contain the words:

First: O—For the Bonds.
Second: O—Against the Bonds.
(If the voter desires to vote for the bonds he or she shall stamp an "X" in the first square above; if he or she desires to vote against the bonds he or she shall stamp an "X" in the second square above.)

BIG SALE OF FURS TO BE HELD AT ST. LOUIS

By the Associated Press
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 9.—More than 12,000,000 pelts, valued at $15,000,000, will be auctioned at the annual fall sale of the International Fur Exchange here, beginning tomorrow. More than 500 buyers, from all parts of the world, are expected to attend.

Nine thousand Alaskan seal, and 667 blue fox will be sold for the account of the United States, and are expected to bring approximately $1,000,000. A unique feature will be the sale of 30,000 Russian pony pelts. This is the first time in the exchange's history the latter have been on sale.

The largest lot catalogued is one containing 1,500,000 Russian squirrel. Among the expensive pelts are 8,000 silver fox, 7,000 Russian sable, and 700 silver fox. The Russian sable alone, it is believed, will bring $2,000,000. Philip B. Fouke, the auctioneer, said.

Large lots to be sold include: 565,000 muskrat, 230,000 marmot, 310,000 white hare, 150,000 civet cat, 200,000 Australian opossum, 190,000 ermine, 11,000 Japanese fox and 600,000 pounds of rabbit skins. The sale will continue through September 20.

MILLER LIGON NAMED
CENSUS SUPERVISOR

Miller W. Ligon has received notification of his appointment as census supervisor of Pontotoc County in the work of taking the census in 1920. The appointment was made by W. C. Geers of Tishomingo, who will have charge of all census work in the Fourth congressional district. The work of enumeration in a large county like Pontotoc will be a rather heavy task, but Mr. Ligon is well equipped to give a good account of himself in the work. The appointment made by Mr. Geers is an excellent one.

A recruiting party consisting of 20 enlisted men out of the 1st, 9th, and 14th field artillery regiments and Lieut. Nichols, Post Athletic Director, Major Ezra Mathewson, Post recruiting officer, left on the 4th for the towns of Altus, Mangum, Hollis, Elk City, Okla., and Childress, Texas, for the period of 20 days. Full individual equipment was taken, also the following: Ford car, 1 reconnaissance carbidey truck, motor ambulance, machine gun, very pistol, tall tent and pyramidal tent. The trip was made via the mentioned motor cars.

Hereafter soldiers granted furloughs or passes will be allowed to canvas for recruits for special assignment to their own organizations, if the outfit to which the assignment is requested is not over 1000 miles from the place of acceptance.

Two men from every unit in the Post will be sent next week to a cook's and baker's school for a two month's course of instruction. Will you be with us in time to try their first hand-out?

The regulars have no more cause to worry about their bonus and mileage, a recent telegram from the adjutant, Washington, states that the bill has been voted unanimously by the house committee.

The Fort Sill Liberty Theatre opens on Monday, the 15th. It is extremely modern in every respect and only the best companies will be scheduled. This theatre was built exclusively for the soldiers and civilians will be welcome as soldier's guests only.

One of the best ball games of the season was played at Post Field last week when the 14th Field took the Post Field team into camp and drew a victory, 4 to 3.

DAMAGE SUITS FILED AGAINST THE KATY

Three damage suits were filed against Walker D. Hines, as director of the M. K. & T. railroad, yesterday, by King & Crawford, representing three parties living near Tyrola. All three claims for damages are based upon the same alleged negligent act of the defendant corporation.

It is alleged in the petition of the three plaintiffs that the Katy had constructed near Tyrola a concrete culvert in a ravine about one mile in length, running into the South Canadian. It is the allegation of plaintiffs that this culvert is not sufficiently large to carry all the water coming down the ravine after heavy rainfalls and as a consequence the water backs up over the surrounding lands doing serious damage to the land and to growing crops.

Petitioners alleged that recently a heavy rainfall created a flood and that the water was backed out over a lot of adjacent land and by overflowing and standing on the crops for something like ten days caused much loss to neighboring farmers. It is for the loss on this recent occasion that the three plaintiffs bring their suits.

J. M. Bevel assigns as his first cause of action that he had five acres of alfalfa covered by water, which water brought down a lot of sand, stumps and other debris, causing damages to the land of $150 an acre and to the alfalfa $50 an acre, and asks for $1,000 damage. He gives as his second cause of action that he had fifty or sixty acres of land damaged to the extent of $25 an acre and asks for $1,250 on this count.

T. M. Abbott alleges that he had rented forty acres of land from J. M. Bevel, that thirty-five acres of this land was in corn, that this corn had about forty bushels per acre matured, that the corn was worth $2 a bushel, that about 600 bushels of this corn was ruined by the water. He therefore asks for $600 damage and costs of this action.

H. D. Chandler brings his suit on the allegation that he had two and a half acres of alfalfa ruined by the water, that the alfalfa was worth $100 an acre, and he therefore brings his suit for $250.

The total damage asked in the three suits amount to $3,100. The railroad company is also asked to make such changes in the mentioned culvert as will protect the adjacent property owners.

DIVORCE PETITION ALLEGES CRUELTY

Mrs. Emma Creamer has sued for divorce from W. H. Creamer in a case filed in district court by her attorney, George W. Burris of Stone-wall.

Plaintiff alleges that she married defendant at Jesse on January 5, 1919. "That from about the first part of May, 1919, to the present time the defendant has been guilty of extreme cruelty towards this plaintiff; that defendant has continuously cursed the defendant during the period of time mentioned; called her names calculated to wound her feelings greatly; has accused her of intimate relations with other men, and has conducted himself towards the plaintiff in a way that she has been driven to the conclusion that she cannot longer live with him—all of which acts and conduct have continued to the great humiliation and pain of the plaintiff."

Wherefore plaintiff asks for divorce and such other relief as she may be entitled to in the premises.

TRACTORS TO BE HERE
ALL DURING FAIR DAYS

C. D. Taylor, general traveling agent for the Avery Company of Texas, with two assistants, is here from Dallas, Tex., for the purpose of putting on a demonstration of the gas tractors. Mr. Taylor is also expecting a motor cultivator and a separator to arrive today, which will be added to the demonstration show. These men will remain here through the three days county fair, which is to be held at this place, beginning tomorrow. The Avery Company will have a special tent reserved at the fair grounds where they will demonstrate their machines. They will also give some demonstrations of the work these machines can do, on the road to the fair grounds, each day, from eleven to twelve o'clock.

F. D. Hardin, of Roff, has accepted the local agency for these tractors, and motor cultivators and separators. His district embraces the counties of Hughes, Pontotoc and Garvin. Mr. Hardin is moving his family here from Roff, and expects to open up a hardware and implement store in this city just as soon as arrangements for a building and the shipments of machinery can be made.

Bolshevism Peril
To Christianity,
Says Senate Body

"Bolshevism and the Christian religion cannot both survive," affirms the report of the senate judiciary committee on Bolshevism. An examination of this report, says the Minneapolis Tribune, will convince the American Christian that "Russian Bolshevism triumphant in this country would be followed by the confiscation of 203,432 church edifices; by the suppression of all denominational Sunday schools, seminaries and colleges, and by atheist dictatorship domination over 41,826,854 church members."

What the Bolshevik government has done to show its hostility to the Christian religion is thus summarized from the senate report by the Minneapolis paper:

"It has confiscated all church property, real and personal. It has established the right of anti-religious propaganda as a constitutionally recognized institution."

"It has suppressed Sunday schools and has expressly forbidden the teaching of all religious doctrines in public, either in schools or in educational institutions of any kind."

"It prohibits religion from being taught or studied except in private. It has abolished all recognition of a supreme being in governmental and judicial oaths."

"It has disfranchised expressly all clergy and servants and employees of church bodies and has deprived them of all rights to hold public positions."

"Under the old imperialistic regime—sinner that it was—it became the practice by both custom and decree that every newspaper and every periodical published on Easter Sunday throughout the Russian empire carried the commemorative headline, 'Christ Is Risen.' On Easter Sunday of 1918 the Bolshevik publications substituted the legend: 'One hundred years ago today Karl Marx was born.'"

RAILWAY "NO ACCIDENT" CAMPAIGNS SHOW GOOD

Some of you are already familiar with the results obtained in accident reductions that have had local "No Accident" campaigns. Briefly, for your information, the official summary of some of the reports for these periods are as follows:

Casualties
January 19-25th, 1919..... 77
January 19-25th, 1918..... 466
28 out of 45 railroads have 100 per cent records, roars reported only 1 slight injury. With approximately 23,000 employees and 36,000 miles of track, this was 1 accident for each 410 miles.

The Southwestern region's "No Accident Month" covering the entire month of May, 1919, made this gratifying record:

Casualties
May, 1919..... 646
May, 1918..... 1475

This was a reduction for the month of 56 per cent in 1919 as compared with 1918, with total employees of 174,884. 12 roads showed no accident for the month. This indicated a fine spirit of interest and co-operation of officers and employees.

The Central Western region had "No Accident Week" during June 22-29, 1919. With 67 railroads there were 47 (or 70 per cent) that had 100 per cent clear accident record. There are 55,000 miles of track and 237,000 employees in this region.

This was the gratifying result:

Casualties
June 22-29, 1919..... 100
June 22-29, 1918..... 456
Comparative casualty decrease 78 per cent.

The Northwestern region also had a "No Accident Week" during June 22-29, 1919. This region has 274,000 employees and 52,868 miles of track. Out of 63 railroads there were 50 (or 79 per cent) that had record clear of accidents during this campaign.

The following is the encouraging statement of this region for the week:

Casualties
June 22-29, 1919..... 119
June 22-29, 1918..... 481
Comparative casualty decrease 77 per cent.

This successful intensified Safety work has attracted the favorable attention and earnest inquiry of the British and Japanese railroad officials in letters received the past week asking for information. This shows its world-wide as well as national influence.

Mr. A. H. Duffy, Manager, Safety Section, Division of Operation, United States Railroad Administration, has decided to hold the "National Railroad Accident Prevention Drive" for a period of two weeks, beginning October 18th at 12:01 A. M. and ending October 31st midnight, along the general lines of the recent successful sectional campaigns of like character.

This has my hearty approval and I shall be very glad to have you officially and actively support this drive, which is to be carried on under the direction and supervision of the Safety Section.

With this advance notice there is plenty of time in which to formulate plans and perfect your arrangements whereby you will be expected to enlist and receive the hearty support of all officers and employees in your respective jurisdiction.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) WALKER D. HINES.

Defeating Hoboism of Future by Putting Men
In the Right Jobs Now

The specter of the gaunt days following the civil war when fighters became paupers overnight will not walk again, if the nation-wide mobilization of jobs by unified work of welfare agencies under federal direction can prevent it. The present rate of absorption of ex-service men runs from 50 to 60 per cent. Frank G. Weaver points out in "The Soldier Goes Back to Work" in Association Men for August. Interesting in this headjustment is the attitude of the ex-service man. The service took him unflinched and turns him out thinking along definite lines and of the future. The service also taught that there is no dishonor in the use of hands and this lesson has developed a certain trend. The war spoiled a lot of clerks in making machinists of them.

"It is not enough to get a man a job," the article continues. "The big objective is to put him into a nook of greater usefulness and to fit him to the task of his choice. Those who know say that from 70 to 80 per cent of the soldiers have the offer of the old places. Not nearly that percentage accepts."

"Quickening of latent possibilities, resulting from war service, has brought restlessness which explains this widespread hesitancy to pick up the thread of civilian life where it was severed. Men who were clerks, for example, see the field overcrowded and underpaid, and they turn to trades offering permanency and bigger return. The flow from white collar aristocracy to overall democracy is rapid and certain since men have learned the supreme value of hands. Squaring men to strange tasks has been said to be largely a matter of chipping off the corners, and a great force of job mobilizers are the chippers. Into this work the Young Men's Christian association and other bodies have entered wholeheartedly."

Phool Paragraphs

Ask any small boy in Ada and he will tell you that it is almost impossible to judge a slipper by its size.

What do you make out of it when you pick up a daily paper and find on one page hundreds of people advertising for jobs and on another page notice that thousands are going on strike?

Fortunate is the Ada girl who loses her temper—and never finds it again.

The food investigators needn't be surprised if the people get impatient. Hungry people are always that way.

Another sign of being "well-to-do" is to hear an Ada man refer to his "other pair of pants."

For once in history all Americans are agreed on one thing. They are agreed that the other fellow is responsible for high prices.

Maybe the reason there is such an eagerness on the part of some fellows to invade Mexico is because it is possible to get a drink down there.

It seems to be more difficult for some Ada men to collect their wits than their bills.

Congress can't repeal the law of gravitation, and where there are cider apples falling there's bound to be some cider.

It is getting around to the point where the average man will have to decide whether to buy a new automobile or spend the money for a Thanksgiving turkey.

No Ada man is optimistic enough to believe we will ever return to the good old days when a girl was contented to receive her candy in a sack instead of a box tied with broad ribbon.

With the price of a hair cut being raised all over the country the bald-headed man has, for the first time in his life, a laugh on the other fellows.

It cost $35,000,000 to make the United States dry. Looks like the Prohibitionists spent money like a drunken sailor.

And if everyone in Ada kept his troubles to himself there would be no trouble to speak of.

Looking at the railroad trains and considering the amount of trav-
